DARWIN TULIPS

....will provide brilliant colors on long, sturdy stems

TULIPS show such a brilliance of color, are so easily grown and are so cheap that they have rightfully become the most popular of early spring flowers. They make a wonderful show in the garden and are unsurpassed for bouquets. If you are not growing Tulips don't let another season go by without planting a liberal quantity of these bulbs. We offer a complete list of bulbs which we import direct from Holland.

Tulips do best in sandy loam to which some well-rotted manure or other fertilizer has been added. Be sure there is good drainage for water is the worst enemy of the Tulips. Plant the bulbs about five or six inches apart and cover about three inches deep. For indoors treat the same as you do for Hyacinths.

The Darwins are rapidly becoming the most popular of all Tulips. This is due to their clear, bright colors, their tall, sturdy growth, and their large, beautifully formed, cup-shaped flowers. The colors are brilliant but not harsh, and the different varieties harmonize well when planted together or with other flowers. They are especially beautiful in masses and make a wonderful foreground for shrubbery. The Darwins offer a great variety of colors, but no yellows. We must go to the May-Flowering Tulips for a late yellow. Darwins are used almost exclusively for outdoor planting but are also splendid forcers. They should not be brought to the heat earlier than January.

We offer below a selected list of the very best and most popular Darwins.

BREEDER TULIPS....the old Dutch Varieties of Self-Colored Tulips so popular now

These are the old Dutch self-colored Tulips which have been neglected for a long time, but are now becoming very popular. In these we have Nature's happiest color combinations of purple and bronze, grey and lilac, yellow and bronze, and bronze and orange. These colors make them entirely distinctive from other Tulips. The flowers are borne on strong stems which are 2 to 2½ feet in height and are of enormous size and perfect form. If you have never grown these Breeder Tulips, be sure that you do so this season. We know that you will be delighted with them. They bloom late and should be treated the same as the Darwins.

Lilium Regal or Myriophyllum (REGAL LILY)

Truly a royal Lily, and deserving of a place in every garden. It comes from northwestern China and is absolutely hardy. Grows anywhere under almost any conditions and is one of the most beautiful Lilies in cultivation. The large trumpet-shaped, fragrant flowers are pure, transparent white, with a rich, canary yellow throat and orange stamens. The outside of the petals is a delicate pink, often reflected through the petals. Flower stems 3 to 4 feet high; blooms in June and July. Plant about 5 inches deep. 40c each; 6 for $2.25; $4.25 per dozen, postpaid.

Calla Lily

The Calla is one of the best Winter-Flowering plants for room culture, needing little care beyond abundant water and an occasional washing of the leaves to keep them free from rust.

Take a 4 or 5 inch flower pot, fill it with good, rich loam (one-fourth leaf mould and three-fourths garden soil), and then put the bulb in and cover it with about one inch of soil. Place in the cellar or some other dark place for three or four weeks. When the bulb starts growing, bring to the light and be sure to give it plenty of water. The bulbs are ready in September.

FIRST SIZE BULBS. 30c, postpaid. SECOND SIZE BULBS. 20c, postpaid.

Freesia

These are American grown and most beautiful; their fragrance is so strong that a pot of five or six plants will perfume an entire house. Especially fine for cut flowers, as the buds open in water, last a remarkably long time, and fill the air with a most delicate perfume. They force readily and can be had in bloom by Christmas if planted early, and a continuance of bloom is maintained by bringing them in gradually and planting in succession. Long, graceful sprays. They should not be placed in a dark room, but put directly in the light immediately after planting. They will stand a light frost with no apparent injury.

PURITY. White. 5c each; 35c per dozen; $2.25 per 100, postpaid.
COLORED FREESIAS. Here is something new, Freezies in lovely shades of pink, purple, blue, lavender and orange. The supply will be very limited, so order early. 6c each; 50c per dozen; in mixed colors only, postpaid.

Crocus

Among the very first flowers to appear in the Spring. Are often seen blooming in favorable places even before the snow is off the ground. They are usually planted outdoors, but can also be used indoors.

They should be planted about 3 inches deep. As the new bulbs are formed on top of the old ones, they must be planted deep to keep them from getting too near the surface.

Do not plant them too early in the Fall or they will start growing before Winter, and this injures the flowers. The best effect is obtained by planting in masses or borders. They are often set in various places on the lawn. Simply lift the turf with a trowel and insert the bulb about 3 inches deep. The tops will lie down soon after blooming, but bulbs will live and bloom again next year.

We have Crocuses in separate colors. Blue, Yellow, White and Striped. 50c per dozen; $3.00 per 100, postpaid.

PEONIES

America's Greatest Decoration Day Flower

PEAONIES are absolutely hardy and when once established will take care of themselves, making larger plants and producing greater numbers of flowers each year. There has been a wonderful development in these flowers, and the new varieties are far superior of ten years ago. The flowers are much larger, and the variety of color is much greater. Plant them as early in the Fall as possible, from 5 to 6 inches deep and from 2 to 3 feet apart. Be sure to put some well-rotted manure or other fertilizer in the bottom of each hole. Press the ground carefully around the roots, being careful not to break the crown. Should the Fall be very dry, water them a few times to produce a healthy growth of foliage, which is necessary to insure perfect blooming.

Most Popular Varieties

- EDULIS SUPERBA. One of our earliest Peonies, usually in blooming on or before Decoration Day. It is a deep rose-pink with lighter shadings. One of the very best. 70c each; $3.75 per 6, postpaid.

- FESTIVA MAXIMA. One of the grandest varieties in existence. The standard of perfection in Peonies. It is a strong grower, very early, free-blooming and very fragrant. The magnificent flowers are of a delicate pure white color, with some of the center petals flaked with carmine. The most popular white Peony today. 40c each; $4.50 per dozen, postpaid.

Fall Planting assures magnificent mid-winter blooms of HYACINTHS.... indoors or Early Spring blooms in your flower garden

For outdoor culture first spade the soil to a depth of 8 inches. If the soil is poor, work in some well rotted manure. Then plant the bulbs so that there is about three inches of soil above the bulb and have them about 8 inches apart. Get them planted as early in the fall as possible and they will need no further attention except perhaps a covering of leaves or straw in very severe climates.

For indoor culture use 4-inch pots for single bulbs and 6 to 8-inch pots for three to five bulbs. Use good soil and arrange for good drainage. Plant the bulbs about an inch below the surface, water thoroughly, and put away in a dark cellar, or bury them, pot and all, about 8 inches below the surface in the garden. Let them stand 6 or 7 weeks and bring them into the house a few at a time. During their growth in the house they should be kept near the light (avoiding direct sun), well watered and in a temperature of from 50 to 70 degrees.

It is better to leave the bulbs outdoors or in the cellar until the sprout has reached the size of a man's finger. This brings them into bloom a little later but the bells will open more uniformly and will result in a much better flower.

Hyacinths for Bedding

These bulbs are especially selected for outdoor planting or bedding. They are all of good size, are in separate colors, and will produce fine, large flowers. There is nothing finer than a nice bed of Hyacinths; if you do not have room for a bed, put out a dozen or so along your house or by the front porch. Hyacinths are the most popular of all Spring bulbs; no other flower can take their place either for garden or house culture. Even with indifferent culture they give satisfactory results, and to careful treatment they respond delightfully.

German Iris

The Iris is extremely hardy. It is one of the best drought resisters we have and will also endure a great deal of cold. It will stand neglect and thrive where other plants die. This makes it exceptionally valuable for cemetery planting, as plants in cemeteries generally get but little attention and must be able to take care of themselves. Plant in a dry, sunny location, setting the roots quite shallow. Too much water and too much manure are not good for them. We list the very best sorts selected from over two hundred varieties.

- LAVERNIA. Rich lavender. Medium grower.
- VIOLACEA GRANDIFLORA. Rich violet blue.
- LOHENGRIN. A thick petaled flower of silvery lilac.

It is always a pretty good plan to do things as Nature does, and you know that Nature sows her grass seed in the Fall. But when you sow in the Fall do so early enough so that the grass will have time to become rooted before the Winter months set in. We carry the most complete stock of grass seeds in the West; our grades are the very highest and our mixtures are made of good, clean, high germinating seeds. Our experience over a period of fifty years enables us to make mixtures especially adapted to western conditions. If you have any special lawn problems, please be free to write us about them. Perhaps we can help you. For the present prices of grass seeds please see our Pink List. Lawns seeded in Fall have fewer weeds than those seeded in the Spring.

EMPRESS NARCISSUS. Similar to Emperor in size and habits, but instead of being all yellow the Empress is yellow and white. The trumpet is yellow and the perianth or outside petals are white.
